When you try to open a Word, Excel or PowerPoint file created in the new Microsoft Office 2007 format, you will be “prompted” to download a compatibility pack. When the below window will appears, click OK.
Note: If you have not kept your windows or Office updated, you may have to complete the updates before you can install the compatibility pack!

Your computer must be connected to the Internet.

The next window will be Microsoft Download Center page where you can click Download to start the process of downloading the file.

The next window will let you choose whether you want to Run or Save the download file.

If you are on a slow (dial-up) connection, select Save. That way you can install the compatibility pack from your computer instead of trying to Run the installation from the Internet.

Once the pack is installed:

1. You can open the file
2. Save the file in the .doc format (Office 2003 and earlier versions)
3. Some of the Office 2007 features may not appear in the converted file, especially in PowerPoint
